Dear IT Executive Manager:

The purpose of this letter is to provide you with information on the plans for the 2008 IPMA Executive Seminar. The theme for the seminar is Where Government and Technology Management Meet

We are back at Campbell's Resort in Chelan from Tuesday October 14th through Thursday October 16th. We are asking you to register by September 5th to ensure your seat. Here are the details:

- Registration is $695.00 payable to IPMA. The registration fee covers the seminar fee, two (2) nights lodging and meals for Tuesday night through Thursday breakfast.
- Topic content will be focused on a mix of state IT business and future technology directions and initiatives. Please note that the State CIO Breakfast will be held at the event on Thursday morning.
- IPMA is providing free bus transportation to and from the Seminar. The seating is limited and you will need to indicate your interest at the time you register.

This is the State of Washington's premier IT executive networking event. We have some very important, thought provoking topics planned for this year's program.

We are asking that you complete your registration by September 5th to help us satisfy contractual obligations with Campbell's. Please take a second right now and complete your registration form. Your invoice will be printed as you submit your registration. This year, our registration process will be conducted at a website hosted by Eventville.
